The Manwix Hall Tragody, Juny Discharged—Postfonement TRIAL.

Hon. Judge Strong, presiding.

Aran 30.—The People vs. Louis Baker.—Shortly after ir. Fox, one of the jurors sworn, who had informed the ourt that Mr. F. was confined to his bed by a severe sided to remain in his house for over a week. His lossor then inquired if the counsel on either side had no motion to make.

Mr. Brady observed that, so far as the defence was oncessed, he had no motion to make. He supposed owever, that the cause would be retained, so that it ight go on when the absent juror would be enabled to itseld. The fact was distinctly demonstrated that a ry could be got in this city to try the case, but he (Mr.) was entirely willing to proceed with the trial with remaining elsewn jurors.

The Court—I will not do that.

Mr. Brady—I knew of no legal impediment to the accept in any criminal case (he being present) ascenting such a course.

The Court—That question came up in Dr. Graham's use, and I know there was a difference of opinion upon. My own opinion then was that it was not competent proceed with cleven jurors in a capital case.

Mr. Hall some irea that whatever the ruling may have been in the Graham case, it was not such a pracemat as cught to be quoted.

The Court still expressed its unwillingness to go on the slaven jurors.

hr. Hall considered that whatever the ruling may have been in the Graham case, it was not such a precedent as cupit to be quoted.

The Court still expressed its unwillingness to go on with slaves jurors.

Mr. Brady remarked that whether or not the Graham case was a precedent to be quoted, it was at all events a matter of Matory, sh wirg that such a course had been adopted. The Court mgh. withdraw a juror.

The Court—Does the Distric: Attorney agree to go on with sloven jurors?

Mr. Hall—By no means, sir.

Mr. Brady—I now offer also to draw from the panel of jurors the first name, and take that gentleman as the twelfth juror without a challenge on either side.

The Court—Will the prosecution sgree to that course? Mr. Hall—No, sir, we cannot.

Mr. Brady—I now offer also to draw from the panel of jurors the first hame, and take that gentleman as the twelfth juror without a challenge on either side.

The Court—Will the prosecution sgree to that course? Mr. Hall—No, sir, we cannot.

Mr. Brady supposed that this matter must lie over, and in view of all these objections started, he would as a that another panel be orde e. He would take this opportunity of caying that Baker, his client, had been selsed upon the high seas without a shadow of warrant or authority, and kidmapped, as it were, into this city, to swell the feuds of partles not necessary to name. He had seen in prism nearly a year, and carnostly desired a sattlemen of this matter. All his funds were exhausted, and what had come to his counsel as fees for their services bat been contributed by his fitsuck slove. But he (Mr. Brady), with his associa as counsel for the acquired, would stand by him so long as they precessed the breath of Rife. It was a matter of vital importance to the source of the should be decided, and that he cannot counsel and the way of his trial.

Mr. Hall cented his the prosecution had thrown any obstacle in the way of interior in the way of his trial.

STRIKE ON THE SIXTH AVENUE RAILROAD .- The Crivera employed on the Sixth Avenue Railroad have had a se rious difficulty with their employers. Heretofore they have been required to run six and seven trips per day, have been required to run six and seven trips per day, three mea being allowed to two cars. By a new order the company require them to run eight trips, one man to a car. To this the drivers object, alleging that they now work e even and twelve hours per day, and the new rule would compet them to work thirteen to fourteen hours, and allow no time to take a proper meal, as they easinot leave their cars but for a moment with the one man arrangement. They receive twelve shittings per day, which they think is little enough for what they do last Monday, when the new order went into effect, they declined to go on the cars, and for a time travel was snapended. New hands were got, however, immediately, and no serious inconvenience resulted. Forty four drivers are on the strike, a few only having submitted to the new rule. The attricers say the new drivers are unit ensed, and that the Mayor has not done what he promised, in not ordering all those who are not qualified off the platform. The Superintendent says that fins new horses are to be put on in place of the mules now used, and the eight trips will require no more time than the seven formerly did. Some compromise should be made between the parties.

April 30.—Jas. Lewis vs. the Mayor and Corporation and Walker R. Jones.—This is a suit brought by the plaintiff or sub-contractor, for raising the thip Joseph Walker. Plaintiff claims his share of the funds which have been ordered to be paid into court. Judge Davies ordered the scatter to be brought before the General Term. The points of his decision were:—That the contractors, with the underwriters, have a lieu upon the fund for their expenditures under the contract, which is not destroyed by the unlawful interference of the Corporation. That Jones, and those acting under him, have no better rights than the Corporation can make no contract for the expenditure of money beyond the sum of $250, according to the tweffit section of the charter of 1853, its alleged contract with Jones was invalid and conferred no rights. That, therefore, the motion for a non-suit should be denied and judgment entered for the plaintiff.

Riot at a Carman Ball in Williamsburg. A digraceful riot occurred on Tuesday morning at a German ball in the Seventeenth ward (Green Point), which was commenced by a party of ten or twelve men who had become overcharged with fighting rum, and sought this occasion to molest and beat quiet unoffending German citizens. About forty Germans, with their wives, children and cocasion to moiest and best quiet unoffending German clirends were present at a ball at John Gesner's, in Franklin street, and everything passed off quietly among themselves. About 12% o'clock, ten or twelve men considerably intoxicated, entered the house, and one of them attempted to force his way into the ball room, but was prevented by the doorkeeps. The whole party then orced their way in and commenced knocking down the Germans with chairs, tumblers, decanters, or whatever they could get hold of. Officers Tanner and Gaborn went in and attempted to stop the disturbance, at which time one of the roweles stood behind the bar, and was throwung tumblers, decanters and champagne bottles indiscriminately into the crowd. The officers started to the station house for assistance, and while they were absent the Germans escaped into a back room and from thence into a garden, while the rowdles were in a desperate fight amongst themselves. After demolishing farniture and other property to the amount of about 320¢, they went into the street and amashed the windows with paving atones, and then escaped before the police force could come up. A warrant was issued on Tuesday by Justice Smith, charged with being ergaged in the riot. Several of the
